

Maternity Beauty Buys A Look at The Latest From Basq NYC

Being pregnant is a beautiful thing. My skin breaks out and not just my face. I have ingrowns on my legs because I can barely see where I am shaving. My skin is sensitive, dry and insanely itchy. Let us not even discuss the stretch marks. Stretch marks for as far as the eye can see, some call them tiger stripes, others road maps of where their bodies have been. Yes, I am proud but let us avoid any more shall we?

Luckily, I have been down this road before. I know what to expect and I knew to start buttering up long before I was even showing. That is why I am so thankful for the newest additions to the Basq NYC collection. Celebrity fan favorite, Basq NYC was a line created specifically for pregnant women and moms to target those delicate and sensitive issues that comes with the joys of pregnancy. Here are a few items I am currently trying.

Mega Moisture Cream Free.

This is the fragrance free version of their ever so popular moisturizing body cream, perfect for sensitive skin like mine. My husband prefers heavy scents, in fact, he owns every luxury fragrance under the sun but I would be lying if I said his addiction was not torture during pregnancy as I spend all morning feeling light headed from his colognes, even the ones I love. Which is why this cream is so perfect. It helps soothe my extremely dry skin with rich and buttery nutrients without driving me nuts with a heavy scent. However, there are some I enjoy like...

Citrus Sugar Skin Perfecting Scrub.

This is the perfect scrub for someone with sensitive skin. Made with real sugar (the first listed in the ingredients), it is not too rough or irritating on the skin but leaves skin feeling renewed. The scrub is infused with Omega Rich Oils such as wheatgerm, hazelnut, jojoba, sweet almond and vitamin E, perfect for softening and locking in moisture without all that extra roughness you get with most scrubs.

Resilient Body Oil.

The word oil was enough to sell me. With the colder months just around the corner, my skin is getting painfully dry at the thought, however, this is the perfect layering product for severely dry skin. After exfoliating away dry, dead skin, apply your Mega Moisture Cream Free to damp skin and be sure to lock in all the moisture by topping off with this body oil. You'll see a huge difference in the tone and texture of your skin almost instantly. On top of that, the Resilient Body Oil is meant to help prevent and heal stretch marks and scars. I'm proud of my body's accomplishments but I do not mind hiding the reminder a bit. Try the Eucalyptus Spa scent for something soothing but never overwhelming.

Vanishing Serum.

This is one product I have not tried yet. In fact, I am just waiting around for until I give birth. These products are not unsafe, however, I can be overly caution while pregnant and feel I can wait a few. While the other products will help reduce the amount of new stretch marks I get, there are still old scarring from not only my previous pregnancies but my days working out where my hips and back side may have stretched a bit, leaving behind more stretch marks. This serum helps boost collagen to help repair new and old scarring. I look forward to sharing my thoughts on that.
