

SAT. STUFF WE LIKE – BASQ SKIN CARE

May 14, 2016 by The Lil' Mamas Leave a Comment

Since 2005, basq Skin Care has been creating products for the unique skin care needs of pregnancy and new motherhood. The owners of basq, Kelli and Lauren, realized during their own pregnancy's that this was a unique (READ: Hard, joyous, and, well, gross.) period of a woman's life. Not only is this the time when safety tends to be the most important thing to a #MAMA, but it is also a time when many skin related issues arise.

When skin fibers don't have strong collagen and elastin, the drastic stretching and shrinking can lead to stretch marks and (after pregnancy) loose skin. Hormonal changes can cause acne and dark patches. Along with this comes the aches and pains of swollen feet and ankles, lower back pain, dry itchy skin and dry, cracked nipples. Sexy, right? Yeah. Not so much.

Kelli and Lauren set out to create a line of products that naturally tackle these issues (and more) with products that are completely safe (no nasty ingredients), yet totally effective (clinically proven to work). They accomplished their goal with the beautiful line of basq Skin Care products which include oils, butters, facial products, scrubs and a cooling gel. These products are not only great for the skin, but they feel and smell amazing. Like ya kinda wanna eat them amazing and, when preggers, may strongly consider it...but ya know, don't.

Many basq clients have shared that using basq products reminds them of a “trip to the spa.” What woman doesn't want to enjoy a mini spa like experience each day?

For more information about the products, visit www.basqnyc.com. Use code LILMAMAS at checkout for 25% off of your order.

XO,
The Mamas